

WORM FARMING PROCEDURE

1. Keep your worm farm in a shady spot – worms like it dark and moist.

2. Take the lid and blanket off the worm farm.

3. Tip in the food scraps and sprinkle some soil on top.

4. Aerate the food scraps and soil with a tool.

5. Put the blanket and lid back on.

6. Once a week –
sprinkle approx.
1 teaspoon of Worm
Farm & Compost Conditioner or dolomite lime into the feeding tray.

7. Once a week –
pour water into the feeding tray until it is running out of the tap.

8. Keep tap open at all times – empty drip bucket of worm juice regularly.

9. When your top “FEEDING TRAY” is full, take it off and put to one side.

Empty the “HOME TRAY” into your garden, pot plants, mature compost or drip line of plants, and always cover with mulch.

10. Now lower your existing “FEEDING TRAY” onto the worm juice tray (this now becomes the “HOME TRAY”).

Place your newly cleaned out old home tray on top (this now becomes the new “FEEDING TRAY”).

You are ready to start feeding this tray again and follow the Worm Farm Procedure.
